“ First Cousin And Childhood Friend lit a candle in memory of John Christian "Chris" Jenkins

“ I always knew John as Christian. He was undoubtedly the most loving father a child could have. I am so sorry for his mother Deborah., who is undoubtedly the most caring and fun-loving person I have ever had the pleasure of knowing. I would also say that he was the most loving father a child could ever have. I am saddened beyond belief as the tears in my eyes are whaling so that I can barely see to write. I remember when he was little., I never heard him say a dirty word or show anger or aggression toward anyone or anything. I am astonished that he is the first of us to go. I've been mourning his passing since I heard., and I'm sure I will for days if not weeks to come. As you may know, he was born on what we know as Christmas day. So now that day will forever be a sad one. No more joy just a memory of times of our childhood spent together. I'm So sorry Deb. Caleb Taylor and Justin. May you all forever cherish the moments you were able to spend with him. I know I will. God speed Christian. God Speed.

“ He would come up to work to make sure I was ok when I worked overnight. He would stay a little bit and just laugh. He always made me feel cared for. Good friends like him are hard to come by. I will miss my friend.
